The PhD candidates of the Integrated Research Training Group 1436 are thrilled to host their first summer school! Join us this August for an exciting opportunity to expand your knowledge in neuroscience at the micro, meso and macro level! The event is geared to neuroscience students with a diverse background. We are offering talks from experts, fun social activities, soft skill workshops and the opportunity to network with fellow researchers.
